Financial Grants from LTC

Money worries can affect anyone and they can take a real toll on your mental and physical wellbeing. If you currently work, or have worked, in licensed hospitality, LTC may be able to help with a financial grant when you need it most.

What we can help with

Our grants are designed to ease short-term pressure and help you move forward. Support may include assistance with:

- Essential living cost; rent or council tax arrears, unexpected bills, household essentials
- Family and education costs; school uniforms, school trips, educational support
- Health-related needs; hospital travel costs, mobility equipment
- Moving and housing costs; rental deposits and essential moving expenses
- Short-term financial support; when illness or mental health challenges make it hard to cope day to day

Our grants are one-off or short-term, assessed on an individual basis, do not need to be paid back, and won’t affect your benefit entitlement.

What we can't help with

Grants are for personal financial hardship only. This means we're unable to help with:

- Business-related costs or expenses, including those linked to running, setting up or closing a business or business loans, overdrafts, or commercial debt
- Purchases that have already been made

If you're unsure whether something counts as a personal or business expense, our team can talk it through with you.

Who can apply

You may be eligible for a financial grant if:

- You (or an immediate family member living in your household) have worked in the licensed hospitality trade for five continuous years or more, across one or more roles
- Your work was in a licensed hospitality setting where serving alcohol was a central part of the role.
- You are experiencing financial difficulty and meet our means-testing criteria

What we'll ask for

As part of the application process, we'll ask you to confirm your employment history. This is usually done by signing an HMRC consent form, or by providing your employment record via HMRC's self-service system.

We'll guide you through this,you don't have to figure it out alone.
